The Southern Press of yesterday morning says "Under this caption the Union of Tuesday publishes an editorial in which the confession is frankly made that the great living issue now before the country is the slavery question. This great truth, which we have so long been reviled and denounced for openly proclaiming, is now admitted at the eleventh hour by the chief of our defamers and assailants, and the hypocrisy which so long cloaked and concealed it now stands stripped and naked to the eyes of all men.'

We will leave our Democratic friends to raise, discuss, and to decide this issue, recognising no sectional issues ourselves. The slavery question is only one of time-the foreign and domestic policy of the government is of permanent importance. We wish to look to them.

GUM ARABIC .- In Morocco, about the middle of November, that is, after a rainy season, which begins in July, a gummy juice excudes spontaneously from the trunk and principal branches of the acacia tree. In about fifteen days it thickens in the furrow, down which it runs, either in a vermicular (or worm) shape, or more commonly assuming the form of oval and round tears, about the size of a pigeon's egg, of different colors, as they belong to the white or red gum tree. About the middle of December, the Moors encamp on the borders of the forest, and the harvest lasts six weeks.

The gum is packed in very large sacks of leather, and brought on the backs of bullocks and camels to certain ports, where it is sold to the French and English merchants. Gum is highly nutricious. During the whole that the constitution in all its parts and the union in harvest, of the journey, and of the fair, the the constitution in all its parts and the union in Moors of the desert live almost entirely upon the desert live almost entirely upon chance to obtain her electoral vote, it is equally chance to obtain her electoral vote, it is equally chance to obtain her electoral vote, it is equally during twenty-four hours.

THE MONKEY AND THE HAWK .- The following anecdote is from the Nottingham (Eng.) Journal: Lord Teynham's French cook had so trained a monkey, as to make him useful in plucking his poultry and winged game, for the spit. This monkey was one day following his occupation at the open window of the back kitchen, and had just plucked one of a brace of partridges, when a hawk pounced upon it and carried it off. Poor Pug was in a sad fright, well knowing the licking that awaited him. Nil desperandum, however, was his motto. plucked up his couarge, took the remaining partridge, laid it in the window, and concealed himself. The hawk, pleased with his feast, returned for another tit-bit, when the monkey seized him, and, in spite of his scratching and screeching, plucked him alive, and laid the partridge down before the cook, and with a gesture, which stronger than language seemed to are accustomed to look above the standard-bearer "It's all right; there's your brace of birds-a fair exchange is no robbery!"

The undersigned have been directed by the Whig City Convention of Baltimore to solicit the attendance of their fellow-Whigs from all parts of the Union at the meeting of the National Convention, on the 16th June.

The invitation which they are instructed to extend is on behalf, not only of those whom they immediately represent, but of the body of the Whice of Maryland. On memorable occasions assembling here in council. We are not aware as a boast and a heritage to our children. ree had cause to tay us with the lack of cordial welcome.

The thought that the Union has been in danger must make the feeling of brotherhood more warm, when brethren of all sections, in the name of the Union, are met to consult for its continued preservation.

Let our fellow-Whigs, then, from all quarters, bring themselves among us. Let their delegations be numerous, enthusiastic, and confident. The inspiration of their presence will give the vigor of triumph to the first blow of the fight.

TO THE WHIGS OF THE UNION.

The following Address is cloquent in its truth-fulness and fervent devotion to the interests of the Whig party and of the nation. It should be read and well remembered by every Whig of our broad land, and should guide him to duty and a certain triumph. How admirable is its spinit, when compared with the "rule or union" declarations unwisely made by some of our erring friends. If the lesson inculcated by this Address shall sink deep into the hearts of the men of our party, their success will be certain. Honor to the Whigs of Pennsylvania, from whom it has

Address of the Whig State Central Com-

The Whigs of Pennsylvania, profoundly sensible of the importance of the great political struggle they are about to enter, beg leave respect-fully to submit, through their State central com-mittee, to their fellow-Whigs of the Union, a statement of their position, and their reasons for maintaining it.

As Pennsylvania has never yet cast her elec toral vote in vain, and as she is likely to become, as heretofore, the arbiter of the contest, and, of consequence, the battle-ground, it is proper for those who have the best means to know the ground and its circumstances to impart their knowledge candidly and honestly to their brethren of the same faith and party.

The history of the past fully establishes the falsity of the proposition that republics are ungrateful. The memories of Washington, Jackson, Harrison, and Taylor teach us that the American epublic has never yet been ungrateful to those who have led her armies, defended her rights, and adorned her name with an imperishable renown. This is in accordance with the nature of man-in accordance with a noble and generous impulse. And as long as human hearts are constituted as now, the man who has denied himself the comforts of home-foregone the pleasures of wealth-invested the strength of his body and the powers of his mind-risked health and life in the defence of his country, will always receive, at the hands of his fellow-citizens, the highest earthly honors and rewards, when the opportunity offers to confer them.

In fidelity to the constitution, and in gratitude to its defenders, Pennsylvania acknowledges no superior. Within the broad limits of this great democratic empire there is to be found no commonwealth more loyal and patriotic. And while it is very certain that no man who is not true to certain that no man, Whig or Democrat, has so much the confidence and affection of her people as WINFIELD SCOTT. Our adversaries know this, and most earnestly and bitterly deprecate his nomination. But we are aware that, if they had the good fortune to possess such a candidate, there would be no divided counsels among them in regard to his nomination. If General Scott belonged to the ranks of the enemy, instead of being an honest, brave, and reliable Whig, the first Baltimore Convention would nominate him by acclamation.

Shall we be less wise than our adversaries? Shall we sacrifice the victory that stretches out before us? Shall we suffer the Whig banner to trail again in defeat, and the Capitol of the nation to be once more entirely given up to those whose principles are, in our opinion, opposed to its prosperity and its greatness? The decision rests with the Whig National Convention.

And while we pledge ourselves to an honest, zealous, and enthusiastic support of the nominee of that Convention, whoever he may be-for we to the standard—we most kindly and earnestly entreat our fellow-Whigs to remember that in Pennsylvania-the battle-ground-the name of Scott is as invincible as on the battle-fields of Mexico. But though he is the choice of her 200,000 Whigs, and of thousands of her Democrats, we will leave unmade no effort, however fruitless, and unexerted no influence, however barren of victory, in behalf of either of his great competitors. Our only inquiries shall be—Is he a Whig?

Is he true to the constitution?

Of Millard Fillmore, the patriotic and distinguished gentleman who now so creditably occu-pies the loftiest official position on the earth, as Whigs we are proud.

Of Daniel Webster, whose fame is not even limited by the bounds of civilization-who, as orator and statesman, stands almost without a rival in the world-peerless and unapproachable in the might and splendor of his genius-as Americans heretofore our fellow-Whigs have honored us by we are proud. His name shall be handed down

But even for these great and glorious Whigs wo are unwilling to hazard the triumph of our great If kindly intercourse and the interchange of and more glorious principles. For that we conceive to be of infinitely more consequence than the political fortunes of any man, however good, able, or distinguished he may be. Small indeed be comes the destiny of the individual in comparison with the welfare of the republic.

With Winfield Scott, the Whigs of the United States can achieve a certain and easy victory. With any other candidate it might be considered doubtful, if not desperate-not because the Whig party, as a national party, is the weaker, but be cause, in the present nicely-balanced condition of parties, it is difficult for either to be victorious in two successive contests. We repeat, certain and easy victory. For the people believe, with a unanimity unprecedented, that he cannot be beaten. And this state of the public mind insures the result, as any one knows who is at all skilled in Committee. political events.

And who shall say that Winfield Scott is not fit for the high station to which we would elevate him? Has any single important act of his life evinced a want of ability? Who shall say that the commanding genius which has raised his name to the loftiest rank among the immortal names of earth will not prove equal to any position or any crisis that may arise in the civil affairs of men? Do the humble battlements of Vera Cruz, the stormed heights of the Mexican mountains, or the American flag waving in triumph over a conquered empire, attest this want of ability? We leave history and fame to answer.

In view of the important contest we are about o enter, and for the sake of the cherished principles for which we have so long contended, side by side, under one banner, and with one battle cry, the Whigs of Pennsylvania call upon the Whigs of the United States (for they know neither North nor South) to unite with them in another mighty and successful effort to overthrow again and forever the pernicious principles of their common adversary.

By resolution of the State central committee. DAVID TAGGART, Chairman. CHARLES THOMSON JONES, Secretary.

TO CURE A COLD, WITH HEADACHE AND SORENESS OF THE BODY, take the Cherry Pectoral on going to bed, and wrap up warm, to sweat during the night.
FOR A COLD AND COUGH, take it morning, noon, sud evening, according to directions on the bottle, and the difficulty will soon be removed. None will long suffer from this trouble when they find it can be so readily cured. Persons afflicted with a seated cough, which broaks them of their rest at night, will find, by taking the Cherry Personal on going to bed, they may be sure of sound, unbroken sleep, and consequently refreshing rest. Great relief from suffering, and an ultimate cure, is afforded to thousands who are thus afflicted, by this invaluable remedy.

PROSPECTUS OF THE COTTON PLANT,

A SOUTHERN JOURNAL, PUBLISHED WEEKLY, TO ADVOCATE DIRECT TRADE, MANUFACTURES, AGEICULTURE, AND THE DEVELOPMENT OPENINT OF SOUTHERN RESOURCES,

BY C. G. BAYLOR,

WASHINGTON, D. C.

THE importance of such a journal as the above needs no exposition. The material and substantial interests of the South have been too long neglected. The "COTTON PLANT" is established to promote these interests, keeping entirely aloof from party or party politics. A complete foreign and domestic correspondence has been arranged. The best talent of the country will contribute to our columns, which will present a medium of general communication, correspondence, and information for the friends of the measures we advocate. The proper steps have been taken in Europe and America to lay the foundation of a direct foreign trade at the South, and to introduce our coarse manufactures into at the South, and to introduce our coarse manufactures into the continental European market. One object of the "Cor-TON PLANT" will be, as the organ of direct trade, to stimulate the South to carry out this important measure.

We call upon the Southern merchants generally to send us their business cards, that we may lay them before the country, to enable the friends of Southern commerce, manufactures, &c., to discriminate properly in their desire to presents Southern enterwise.

country, to enable the freeds of Southern commerce, manufactures, &c., to discriminate properly in their desire to promote Southern enterprise.

The importance of Washington City, as a point of location for such a journal, especially in regard to opening foreign correspondence and promoting our foreign relations, is apparent. The opportunity of seeing here, also, members of Congress from every district of the country, presents means of general co-operation not to be found elsewhere.

To the Cotton, Sugar, Rice, and Tobacco Planters, we look confidently for support; and to the friends of "Direct Trade" throughout the South we say, "show your faith by your works."

The regular issue of the "Cotton Plant" will commence in June next. Advertisements are particularly requested to be forwarded early. Business letters addressed to C. G. Barlor. Washington City, D. C.

Correspondence from all interested in the cause we advocate is solicited, particularly as to the crop, as we wish to give correct information on a subject which is of so much importance to the Planter, and in representing which he has been so often injured.

Protection from Lightning.

THE undersigned, being the duly appointed Agent of Sparaty's ELECTRICAN AND ELECTRO-MYZLLURGIST LIGHT-NING-ROD MANUFACTORY, Covington, Kentucky, begs to offer these superior Rods, of Spiral-twisted, Carbonized Annealed Iron, with Zinc Protectors, and Electro-positive elements combined in their manufacture; thus rendering them equal to copper as conductors. They are in ten-feet lengths, with accurately-fitted brass-serve connecting joints, an entire new style of metallic (patented) attachments, for brick or frame buildings; also, glass isolators, of a novel and ingenious construction, (patented,) forming a lock; the whole mounted with a solid platinum silver point, (patented,) twelve inches long, surrounded at the base with three angular negative magnets, which possess the power, to an extra-mounted with a solid platinum silver point, (patented.) twelve inches long, surrounded at the base with three angular negative magnets, which possess the power, to an extraordinary extent, of discharging the opposite elements of the most fearful thundersform, and embrace the entire perfection of science up to the present time; the whole constituting the most magnificent and perfect silent conductor ever presented to the public.

Safety has not been compromised by affording these excellent rods at such low rates; the greatest attention has been given to their construction, so as to be readily attached. The astonishing power of the negative magnets, in discharging the air of its opposite elements, has been clearly demonstrated by the Electrometer, when unmagnetized points have shown but slight results, though placed under the same conditions. In fact, they gather and silently discharge electricity from the atmosphere when you would scarcely suspect any being present.

These improvements being secured by double letters patent, you are hereby cautioned against laying yourselves liable, by purchasing of those who are not autherised, or none.

CHARLES W. HEYDON, Washington City.

I do hereby certify that I have app lied various powerful chemical re-agents to Spratt's Patent Points for Lightning-Rods, and that the results of these experiments convince me that they will resist the action of atmospheric causes, and thereby preserve the extremity sharp—a condition most essential to protection against lightning. The re-agents used in the above experiments were a solution of chloride of sodium, (common salt,) acetic acid, sulphuric acid, and hydrochloric acid. With the first, there was no action on the metal; with the several acids, there was very slight—a fact sufficient to show that atmospheric influences would have no sensible effect.

JOHN LECONTE, Prof. of Nat. Phil. et Chem.
UNIVERSITY OF GA., October 8, 1850.

The Lightning Conductors of Mr. Spratt, offered to me, are well calculated to perform the office for which they are intended. Yours, truly,

This may certify that I have examined, somewhat critically, Jamee Spratt's Patent Lightning Rods, and that I am of opinion that it is constructed on scientific principles. For combining durability, cheapness, and efficacy, I deem it equal, and I think superior, to any other rod ever offered for my inspection.

equal, and I think superior, to any other rod ever offered for my inspection.

Augusta. (Ga.) November 11, 1830.

This will certify that I have examined the Lightning Rods, Metallic Points, and Isolating Attachments, manufactured by Mr. Spratt, and regard them as constructed in conformity to the general laws of the electric fluid; and the metallic compound constituting the Points, as promising, from the result of several tests to which they were submitted, to resist for years the action of those atmospheric causes most likely to corrode them.

Pharm., Medical College, Ga.

The Lightning Conductors put up by Mr. Henry M. Smith, of this city, on the plan of Mr. Spratt, appear to me to be very well devised; and, in point of mechanical construction, are the best 1 have ever seen.

It is to be hoped that the use of these Rods may become general, as an important auxiliary defence against a danger which must be regarded as of no ordinary magnitude, to which all buildings are liable.
